Foreword

All persons who have passed through the corridors of Chestnut Ridge High School have fond memories of many pleasant experiences. Within these pages, we of the staff have tried to capture, with the magic of the camera, the people, classes, and activities of this year at C. R. H. S. We only hope that these pages and pictures will serve as a memento of the happy days and lasting friendships of this our senior year. We sincerely hope you like this volume of "The Lion."

THE EDITOR

Dedication

We, the Senior Class of 1957, dedicate this fifth issue of The Lion to Mr. John J. Koza, Jr., in recognition of his patience and assistance while helping us prepare it. The senior class will be forever grateful for his understanding and for his untiring efforts in making our high school days enjoyable ones.

SENIORS' ADIEU

*The time has come in our short lives,
When we must say Adieu.
But, as we leave dear old C. R. H. S.,
We drop a thought with you.*

*In these four short years, we have labored here;
We have also had our fun.
And we hope for the knowledge we have gained,
We may all say well done, well done.*

*And to our underclassmen,
Before you close that door;
We hope you work and strive enough
To make life's winning score.*

*Now on this our graduation day,
As we say our last Adieu!
"If at first you don't succeed; try, try again,"
Is our advice to you.*

When a student enters his senior year in high school, it becomes necessary to begin making plans to be followed after graduation. If one is planning to continue with advanced training, there are many problems that must be worked out before the end of the year. What size college or university should be selected? How much will it cost? What kind of scholarships are available? These are just a few of many, many problems.

In advising our students in their everyday problems, Mrs. Taylor deserves due credit for her hard and efficient work in this particular field. Many tests are given every year to determine the students' interests, aptitudes, and abilities. The guidance department is certainly an essential department in every school.

Mrs. Adams plays a very important role in helping everyone in our school to maintain health. Even small cuts are treated carefully because she knows that small cuts lead to dangerous infections.

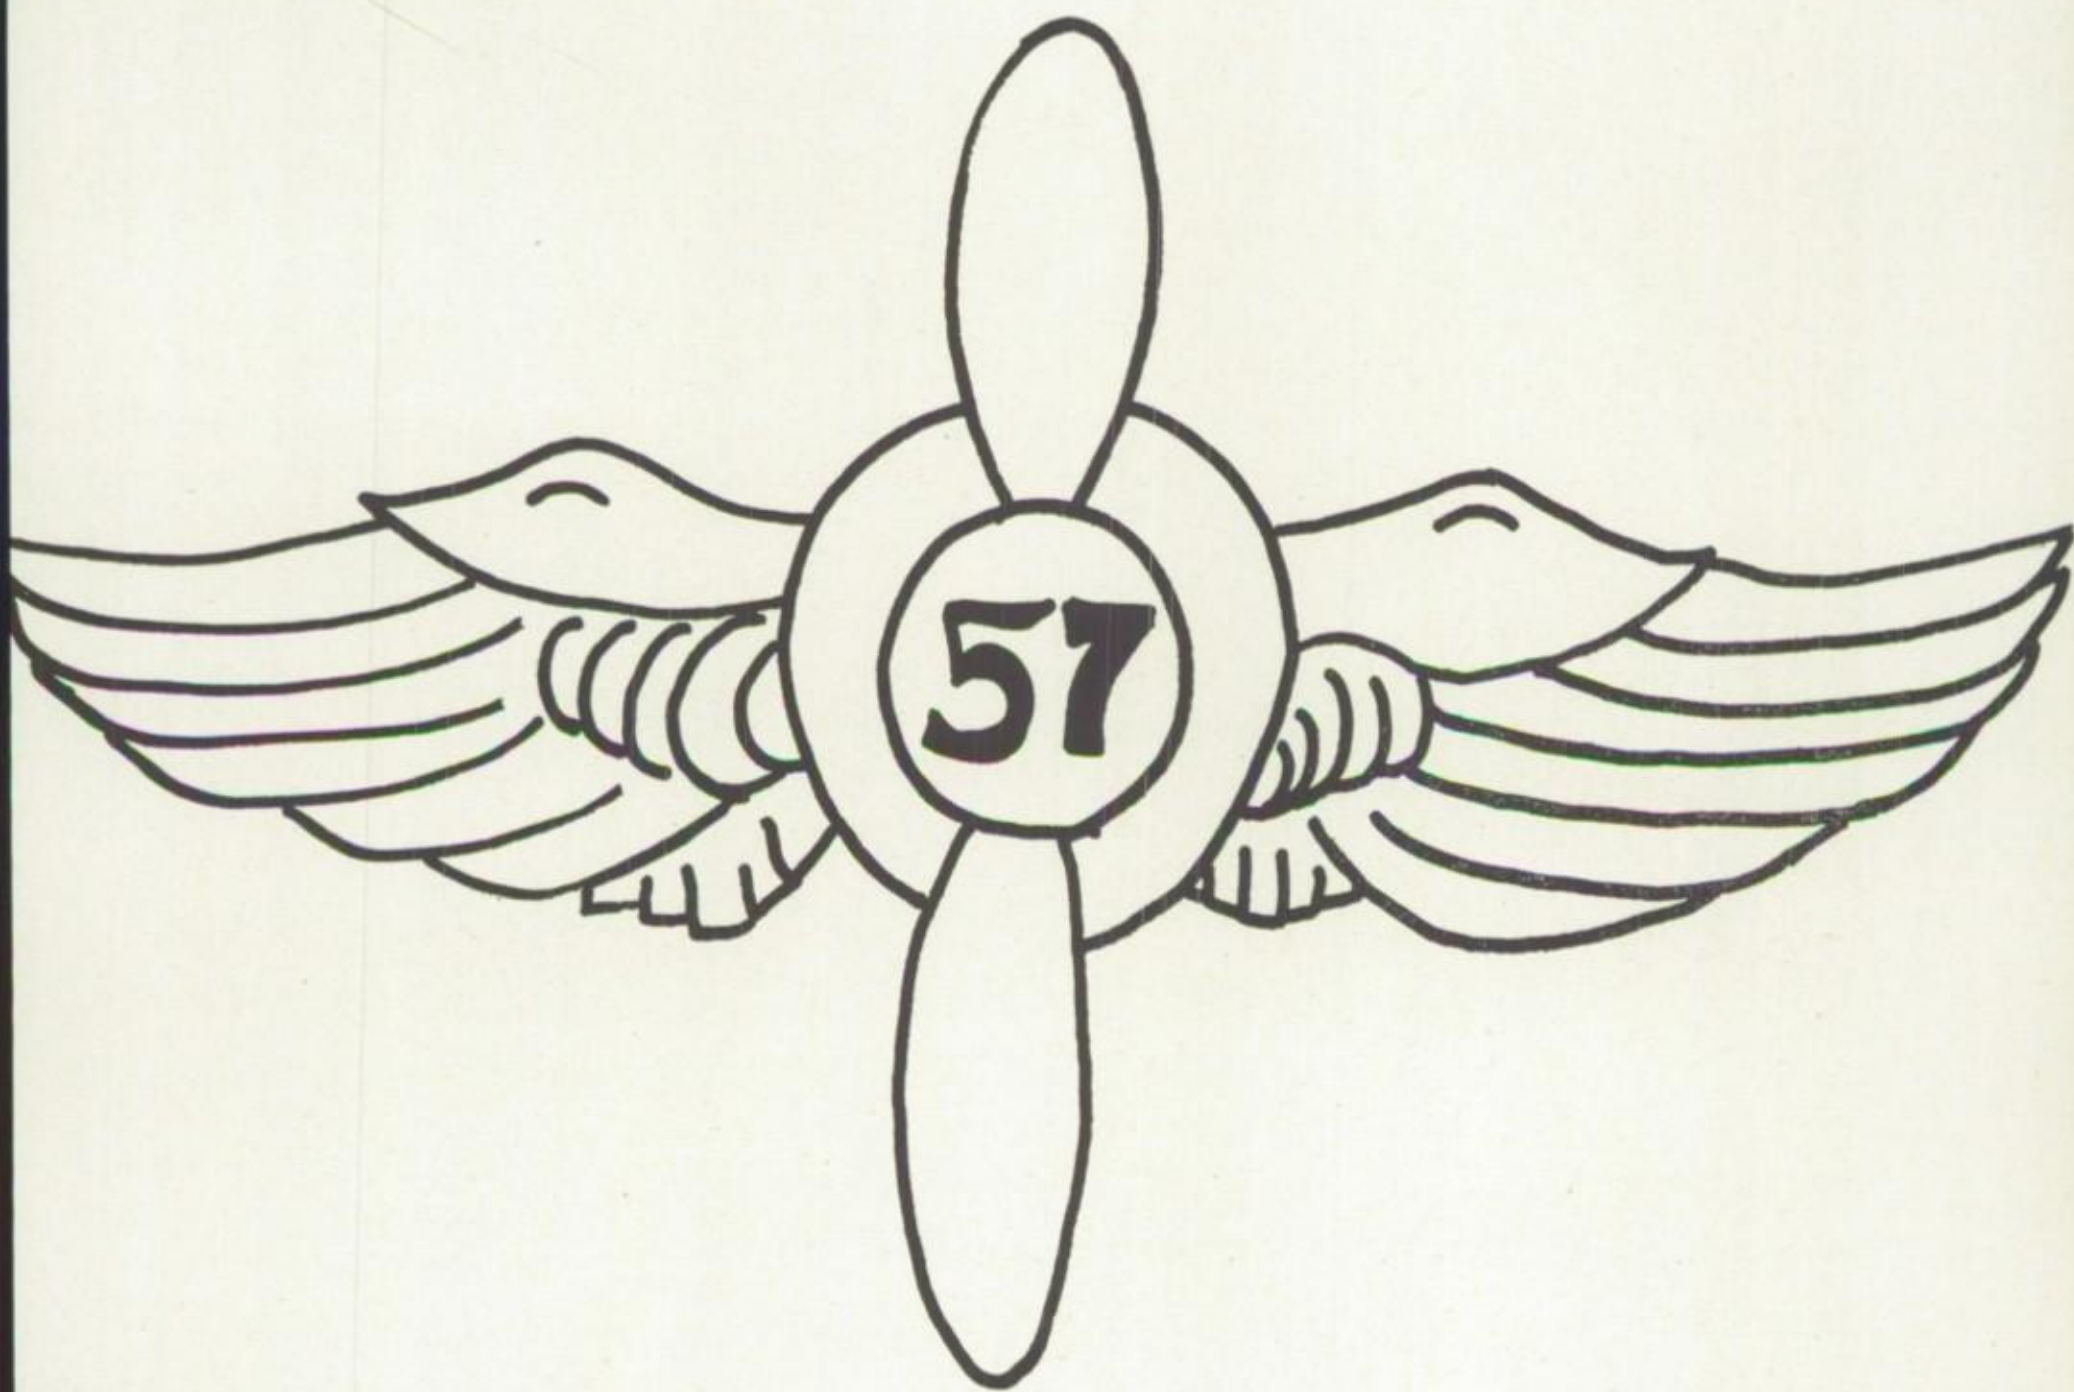

Under the direction of Mrs. Adams, medical and dental examinations are given to the students. The students are examined in their odd numbered grades so that everyone is examined every other year.

T. B. X-rays are also given to all students who are fifteen years of age or older. These examinations are made possible through contributions made in the annual Tuberculosis drive.

If a student is found to have an abnormal physical condition, Mrs. Adams sees to it that he or she gets the proper treatment.

SPIRIT OF '57

I am the spirit of the class of 1957. Four short years ago I entered the doors of Chestnut Ridge High School at Schellsburg. Here I got acquainted with high school life and found (or was shown) my place with reference to school policies. The members of my class have entered into many activities to say the least. In fact, they have put their inquisitive noses into almost everything, and both the school and they have profited by their interest.

After an exciting summer, I returned as a mighty sophomore. All of us had one of the most active years in our history. As I began to feel pinched financially, I chanced off valentine candy and held a skating party. Both were real successes.

Another summer passed and I returned, ready to conquer the world. This was our first year at the new ultra-modern high school building at Fishertown. After I found my place in this great new structure, I found that I enjoyed it more than any phase of my existence so far. Many exciting things happened this year. I presented my class play, "The Night of January Sixteenth," which was a huge success. Never, I think, did my young charges have so much fun as at those rehearsals. Soon after this, I started work on the Junior-Senior Banquet which gave my members the thrill of their lifetime. As I remember it, it was simply lovely!

At last the day came. We were finally seniors—the top brass! In October I took a three-day trip to Washington, D. C. This was educational as well as enjoyable. I came home very tired and provoked because the President didn't even stay home when I went to visit him. I also published the newspaper and yearbook, sponsored skating parties, and presented my class play. Before I knew it, I was sweating in finals. After they were finished, the prom gave a much needed breather. As the end of my last school year comes, the big night, May 21, shines bright in the near future when I will take my place among the alumni of C. R. H. S.

My spirit is well represented in Chestnut Ridge High's Band by 14 members. Eleven of my musicians also play with the orchestra. Oh my, we mustn't forget the chorus. My spirit is ever prevalent there. Many of my members have represented our school in county, district, and state music events.

I couldn't leave without mentioning my boys in the "Sportlite." They did an excellent job, representing our school in wrestling, baseball, basketball, and football. Three of my boys represented the "Lions" in all-county football. '58, '59, and '60 take heed! You can learn much from their experience.

Some of my members could also be found out in front of our cheering section at every game. Many more could be found standing on the sidelines or sitting on the bleachers giving the teams support.

I was not the most angelic class to graduate from C. R. H. S. (But who wants to be?) However, we carried our share of the tasks and responsibilities of high school life, and, as I have said before, had a lot of fun doing it.

I must say "Adios" to my Alma Mater. I shall leave it in body, but wherever I go it will live in my memory forever.

CLASS PROPHECY

Well, today's the big day—May 21, 1972, exactly 15 years since the class of '57 of C. R. H. S. graduated. It seems impossible that we'll all be together again today. The few old classmates that I've met again thus far don't seem to have changed very much.

I remember when our plane landed at Honolulu last night. BEVERLY SAYLOR was there to meet us and we recognized her right away. Beverly and her husband run this beautiful hotel where we're all staying.

When we got to the hotel, a few of the others had arrived. Standing in the lobby getting reacquainted were DR. AM-MIALYE O'BRIEN, CAROLYN LONG, world-famous scientist who makes wonder drugs by playing her magic flute, BOB WISSINGER, owner of the elaborate 'Wissinger's Recreation Room,' and OWEN BUTERBAUGH, coach of the Hawaiian Hound Dogs, the undefeated Hawaiian football team.

It was good to see them all again, but we were all so tired that we went directly to our rooms. And here it is, morning already. I guess I'd better go downstairs and meet the others, but first a quick check in the mirror. My hair seems to look all right. It was done by SHIRLEY MITCHELL and NANCY MILLER before we left home. They own their own beauty shoppe now and are doing very well. Now I'm ready to go down.

Oh! I recognize some of my former friends already. There are DORIS EMRICK, MARY BELLE FRAZIER, SHIRLEY FEASTER, VIRGINIA STRAYER, BEVERLY BAREFOOT, and MARY ANN BELTZ. I've heard that they all hold important secretarial jobs for some of the United States Senators.

There's VERA JUNE ROSE, home economist. She must be giving some household hints to ANNA MAE OLDHAM, DORIS BAUGHMAN, JEAN ROUZER, FAYE HILLEGASS, MARGARET TURNER and SHIRLEY SHIPPEY. I read in the newspaper that they and their husbands have started a project called "The Perfect Home."

As I go on into the lobby greeting old friends, I see BOB STULTZ, JOHN SHAFFER, BERNARD McDONALD, ROSS COOK and BILL BOWSER. They're probably discussing the latest prices that farmers are getting on the market.

There's ELAINE LAMBERT. I believe I'll go talk to her. I'm anxious to find out how she did the last time she swam the Mediterranean Sea.

What's all the confusion across the room? I see now. IVAN WENTZ is getting ready to sing his latest recording for us. That song was written by another of our former classmates, DONNA LEE SHAFFER. I see that BOB HESLOP, Air Force jet pilot, and JACK FEATHERS, plantation owner, are going to relive old times by playing the accompaniment on their guitars. Ivan will appear next week on DALE FAUPEL'S Oobie-Goobie show.

Here are PAUL STRAYER and JOE FEATHER. They've just completed another of their spectacular engineering feats.

. . . Time for breakfast. Here's my place-card. What a pleasant surprise! I've been seated between PROFESSOR DORIS BENNA, Head of the University of Hawaii, and PAT MacINTRYE, the first lady President of the United States.

Who is the couple across the table? Oh! It's CLEM MILLER and his wife, the former PHYLLIS ALLLISON, who have been living happily in one of the new, modern, two acre glass houses.

Now that breakfast is over, I believe I'll accompany some of the others for a visit to the new hospital here. Some of our former classmates hold important positions there. BARBARA CAMPBELL is the head of the nursing department, and JANET TURNER and SHELBY MILLER are two of the staff of Laboratory technicians who invented the new wonder-drug to keep school teachers from getting gray hair prematurely.

This hospital really has a large staff of telephone operators. VIRGINIA DIEHL, LILLIAN WILLIAMS, CHARLOTTE SMITH, NANCY WERNER, GRACE IMGRUND, and JOAN VOUGHT are all employed here. I wonder how the hospital is getting along without them today? Gosh! I could spend a week looking around in here, but it's time to go back to the hotel for lunch.

There are CURTIS FRAZIER, ED McCREARY, CECIL EVANS, GLENDON GRIFFITH and WILLIS ROSE. I wonder why they weren't here this morning. Their plane was probably delayed by reporters who were trying to get a statement from DON MOCK and DALE BEARD concerning their latest movie "GO!". I hear that it's really a big hit. The producer of the movie is MILLARD HILLEGASS, who is making millions with his oil wells, and the director is WAYNE BERKHEIMER.

There are some more late-comers: JIM MILLER, DICK HEIDORN, GERALD CORLE, and TERRY ICKES. They missed the plane that they had originally scheduled because Dick's car broke down and they had to walk to the airport.

. . . Well! At last, here I am at the dinner table. This time I'm seated between PHYLLIS CRISSMAN and ESTHER OLDHAM. It's very interesting hearing them discuss recipes with FRANCES KAUFFMAN and SHIRLEY IMLER, who are across the table from us.

Also across the table are STEVE McCREARY, professional wrestler, NEIL LING, owner of "Ling Truck Lines," LEONARD FERGUSON, jet mechanic, and JOE FEATHERS, famous race car driver.

As we go onto the lawn for a fashion show, I see YVONNE MILLER and DONNA GRASSER, who designed the fashions, and KATHY DAVIS and NANCY MOCK, who will be the models.

I hope that whatever follows this wonderful show is as interesting as everything else has been so far. My schedule says that there will be a festival tonight to let those of us who are not natives see what a real Hawaiian celebration is like. All the food for this festival is being supplied by the laborers from NANCY CLAYCOMB'S huge pineapple plantation.

. . . Now that everything is ready, the festival will begin. Who are the girls in the grass skirts? Of course, they are DORIS CLAYCOMB and NANCY WEAVER. They're going to do their famous night club act for us.

. . . The festival was really wonderful, and now we will go for a moonlight sail on one of RICHARD HARR'S yachts. The end of a perfect day.

It certainly has been wonderful to meet all of my old friends again and spend the day with them. After the next few hours, we'll all go our separate ways. The others will go back to homemaking, farming, politics, and their various jobs, and I, SHARON MANESS, will continue on my trip around the world, making personal appearances with BEVERLY ALLISON and her all-boy band.

As we turn to go back to the hotel, we are all anxious to get to our own homes, but we are reluctant to leave our friends. Being together today has brought back memories that we will never forget.

WASHINGTON TRIP

Early Sunday morning precisely at 7:00 A. M., a procession of seventy-two sleepy-eyed seniors boarded two Blue and White buses to travel to our Nation's Capitol. About five miles down the highway, I sneaked a look at the other occupants on my bus. The boys were snoozing. The girls were wearing that thoughtful expression that clearly says, "I've a feeling I forgot something."

We left the turnpike at Fort Littleton and by this time everyone was wide awake and enjoying the fine October day.

After a short rest stop at McConnellsburg, we were on our way again. By this time the conversation had turned to constant babbling of what seemed like a million voices but which, in reality, came from just thirty-seven people.

Our first real vision of beauty and grandeur overtook us when we visited the Washington Cathedral. The size of the building made us almost forget lunch time and the size of our appetites.

After spending some time in a cafeteria and sampling their many delicacies, we went to spend some time with our relatives at the zoo.

On the more serious side of things, was our next stop at the Franciscan Monastery. This is a Memorial Church of the Holy Land and contains many beautiful shrines and altars, the most striking of which is The Holy Sepulchre. The purpose of this Monastery is to preserve and maintain the Holy Shrines of Jordan, Israel, Egypt, Syria, Cyprus, and Lebanon.

By this time, our tired and heavy feet told us to check in at "Washington's tallest building," the Cairo Hotel. After a few moments away from the noise and bustle of the city, we went to the Lotus Restaurant and dined. We also enjoyed a floor show at the same place. This delightful entertainment gave the crowd itching feet, so we went out and toured the town. Finally, at an unmentionable hour, we started back to the hotel, dragging our rubbing alcohol behind us.

On Monday morning, when we opened our eyes, one thing was apparent—it was a dreary, rainy day. We had breakfast at Sholl's Cafe and then went to the Jefferson Memorial. This is a circular structure of white marble and is an impressive tribute to the author of the Declaration of Independence, who was the third President of the United States. At the center of the inner hall, atop a black granite pedestal stood a nineteen-foot statue of Jefferson. On the surrounding panels are excerpts from his writings. I discovered it was Jefferson who spoke of "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

Next we went to the Lincoln Memorial. This is built in the manner of a Greek temple with 36 white marble columns representing the States of the Union in Lincoln's time. A statue of the Civil War President holds the place of honor in the center hall. On the south wall is inscribed the Gettysburg Address and on the north wall is his Second Inaugural Address.

Arlington National Cemetery where rest thousands of men who gave their lives shaping the destiny of this country was our next stop. Against the background stands the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier where today and every day a lone sentry stands guard. We saw the changing of the guard.

The feeling of Mount Vernon is indicated by Washington's own ambitions to settle and "to pursue the art of agriculture, fulfill his duties as a citizen, and sustain in its elevated dignity the character of a country gentleman." He planned the house as it appears today, although his duties called him away to lead the colonies to freedom.

While digesting all this history, we went back to Sholl's for lunch. After savoring the chef's dainties, we retired to our hotel and dried out for a couple of hours.

Rested once again, we set out for the Smithsonian Institute which is really a museum. Its 300,000 exhibits include such things as Lindberg's "Spirit of St. Louis," the Wright Brothers' plane "Kitty Hawk," and a tattered old flag that was the "Star-Spangled Banner."

After dining in the evening, we went to see Cinerama Holiday. This was a treat for our eyes and a rest for our feet. Now back to Hotel Cairo where we ended the day with a (Pajama) party.

Tuesday, we began our last grand and glorious day by having breakfast at Sholl's after which we visited the Bureau of Printing and Engraving. While there, I learned that a one dollar bill lasts nine or ten months. They use better paper, I guess, for my one-dollar bills last no more than one week.

Next on our list was the F. B. I. I won't report on that for fear that I might incriminate myself.

Then we toured the fabulous White House which is the residence of the President. (Someone tipped him off that we were coming, so he left town.) Of course, we did not see all of the 132 rooms. The John Adams family were its first tenants.

Also on our list Tuesday forenoon were the Department of Commerce, Washington's Monument, and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The most striking of these three was the Washington Monument. There is a staircase of 898 steps and our feet hit every one of them on the way up. Needless to say, we took the elevator down since we were on our way to lunch.

After lunch, we had our pictures taken. We visited the Capitol which is the home office for the 435 Representatives and 96 Senators who make up Congress. (We learned that you spell it with an "o" when you mean the building with the dome on top.) We also saw the President's Room.

The United States Supreme Court was the next point in our tour. This is the highest court in America and the only one established by the Constitution. Our next stop on the tour was at the Library of Congress which has acres and acres of books (36 acres of floor space and 250 miles of bookshelves.) About 1700 workers care for books, manuscripts, music, pictures, and even newspapers.

At last it was time to leave for home, but there was one thing I hadn't seen. I was truly disappointed. You know how in class you are supposed to make a 3 minute speech and you lapse over a half minute. Then some wise guy behind whispers, "She should be down there in Washington with those other politicians." Here we were! Leaving for home! I sided up to a guide quickly, "Where are the politicians?" I asked anxiously. "They're home digging up votes," he answered. But I knew better. They all went underground when we arrived. They could never have gotten in a word edgewise.

We the Senior Class owe our thanks and appreciation to faculty members, Mr. Koza, Mr. Lehmier, Miss Eckman, and Miss Gerber who protected us from the wheels of speeding taxis, prevented us from peeking under man-hole covers, discouraged us from poking the ribs of foreign diplomats, forbade us to collect such souvenirs as knives, spoons, and napkins, and tirelessly worked to make our trip delightful in every way.

SWEET

It is one of those chilly, fall Saturday afternoons that makes you glad to be alive. Amidst the cheer of the crowd comes the Blue and Gold Band as it begins to march through another successful season.

Because of the long, hard hours of practice last summer and the expert direction of Mr. Pepe, the band was able to tackle the big task of playing for the football games. At the end of football season, the band started practicing serious music for the annual spring concert.

In October the band made a spectacular showing in the Bedford Halloween Parade.

In February, chosen members of all high schools in Bedford County gave a concert in our auditorium. This was the first all-county band ever held in Bedford County.

Several members of our band were also chosen to play in the District Band Concert.

Although next year new faces will be seen in the empty places left by the departing members, the seniors will be missed by all. Through many years of hard work, they have helped to make our band what it is.

Eleanor Oldham, Barbara Campbell, Sharon Maness, Patsy Kring, Dottie Yantz.

The Chestnut Ridge High School Orchestra is open for membership to all students from 7th grade through 12th grade providing they meet the requirements of musicianship for the group. The over-all size of the Orchestra is dependent upon the number of string players in the group. The 1956-57 Orchestra has 21 string players and a total of 48 members.

Students desiring to begin instruction on string instruments are requested to contact the Orchestra director.

One of the most active organizations of our school is the Senior Mixed Chorus. It is strictly a musical organization and has as its purpose to give its members musical experience.

This fall the chorus gave a program of sacred numbers at the Imler church.

In addition to the annual Christmas program in December, they went on a caroling tour to the Bedford County Home and the Memorial Hospital before Christmas vacation.

After Christmas most of the time was spent preparing for the spring concert.

Each year the chorus is represented in district and county chorus.

1. To encourage young people to cultivate in themselves the qualities of personality and character which are the foundation of successful teaching.
2. To acquaint them with the inspiring story of the public schools.
3. To provide them with current information about opportunities in the various fields of education.

Several members of our club have been given an opportunity to take over classes when teachers have been absent. This gave them a chance to actually have teaching experience and realize the responsibility of a teacher.

The FTA takes in only members of the junior and senior classes who are interested in the teaching profession. This enables the club meeting to go smoothly as everyone is interested in activities and take an active part in meetings.

2. To aid members in obtaining information on different nursing schools.
3. To help members evaluate qualifications for a good nurse.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

This is the scoreboard built by the Future Farmers of America for our football field. The board was built in the Ag. shop by all the classes and was completed in several months. The complexity of the project can be seen by looking over the facts: over 250 light bulbs, nearly 1,000 electrical connections, an electric clock with a diameter of 8 feet, 750 feet of wire in the board itself plus 8,400 feet of control wires running to the control panels at the press box, nearly 300 sq. ft. of surface area which was painted battleship blue, 64 ft. of angle iron and pipe, 50 sq. ft. of window screens, and 60 ft. of Navy surplus bunk chain.

The board proved successful in its operation at all the games including the first game when it was exposed to rain during the entire game. The boys of the FFA are justly proud of their accomplishment as this is the only one in the area and it has added much to the enjoyment and understanding of the game by the spectators.

The Pennsylvania Electric Associations and the Bedford Paper have both given state-wide recognition of this addition to the football field. It can be converted easily to a baseball scoreboard if the need arises.

SENIOR PLAY CAST

ROW 2. Ivan Wentz, Robert Heslop, James Miller, Clem Miller.

The comedy, "Dear Ruth," was presented in the high school auditorium on the evening of March 21.

The play began with Lt. William Seawright coming home from the war to see Ruth, the girl with whom he has been corresponding. When he arrived at Ruth's home, he found that Ruth was engaged to Albert and that she hadn't been writing to him at all. He learned that it was Miriam who had been writing to him and that she had been signing Ruth's name. Not only had she signed Ruth's name, but she also had sent him a picture of Ruth. Then Martha, Bill's sister, and Chuck, who were engaged, met again and got married. In the meantime, Ruth and Bill kept almost steady company and fell in love. Later, they got married.

JUNIOR PLAY CAST

ROW 1. Patsy Kring, Robert Acker, Sally Bowser, Lloyd Casteel, Phoebe Cuppett, Bud Weaver, Dean Clark.
ROW 2. Robert Smith, Ronald Benton, Glenn Jones, Barbara Hinton, Gene Hillegass, Gary Williams, Arlene Vaughn, Carol Feather, Lowell Benton.

The comedy, Father of the Bride, was presented December 6 by the Junior Class. The three-act play, written by Edward Streecher, was directed by Mr. Stewart and Mr. Koza.

The plot revolved around the crises in the Banks' household created by Kay Banks' approaching marriage to Buckley Dunstan.

Some of the memorable characters of the play included an irate secretary, a caterer who never failed, and a boy who at embarrassed moments "dug worms."

Eventually all the minor and major catastrophes were resolved and a happy ending climaxed the rollicking entertainment.

PRESS PHOTO CLUB

Among the more interesting clubs in the high school, is the Photography Club, which is under the supervision of Mr. Pyle. This club is made up of amateur or prospective photographers who wish to take and print good pictures.

It teaches its members many subjects, how to use a camera, make enlargements, and make contact prints.

Since this club was formed, it has left a good mark; for not only has it produced amateur photographers but also has provided the students with pictures of school scenes and activities. Many of the pictures appearing in this issue were taken by the Press-Photo Club.

STAGE CREW

When attending an event at Chestnut Ridge High School, we never see this group of fellows who help make our events successful. This is the stage crew and at events such as the junior and senior class plays, band and chorus concerts, and assembly programs their service is rendered by taking care of the lighting and many other special effects. In addition to this, they set up the stage for many performances.

The stage crew is considered one of the most important organizations in the school.

The second year of football was something that will live long in the memories of the school, fans, and players of our school.

Playing a schedule of nine games, our boys ended the season with two wins and seven defeats. On September 15 the Lions played host to Gallitzin on a rain soaked, muddy field which appeared to the spectator as being half submerged. Those who braved the weather were repaid by a fine game that ended in a 12-6 defeat for the Lions.

The following week, September 20, the team traveled to Bedford for that ever-growing rivalry. At half-time with the score 13-0, things were looking bad for the boys but they came out to show their determination as they tallied twice but fell short of winning 13-12.

On September 28, Chestnut Ridge traveled to New Enterprise to try to start the victory ball rolling. They dropped the game 33-6, but succeeded in scoring Ridge's first touchdown against Replogle by a pass from Beard to Heslop for 54 yards.

The next week, October 6, found the Lions up in the Mountains at Lilly-Washington. The team hit rough going at the hands of the winless Red Raiders and were repelled 33-13.

On October 13, Chestnut Ridge met a new opponent, Everett Southern. The Lions "wall" held well during the first half, leaving the score at half time 7-0. The second half showed a different story with the final score being 34-0.

About this time rumors started flying about the next game and a gigantic pep rally. No one will ever forget that day.

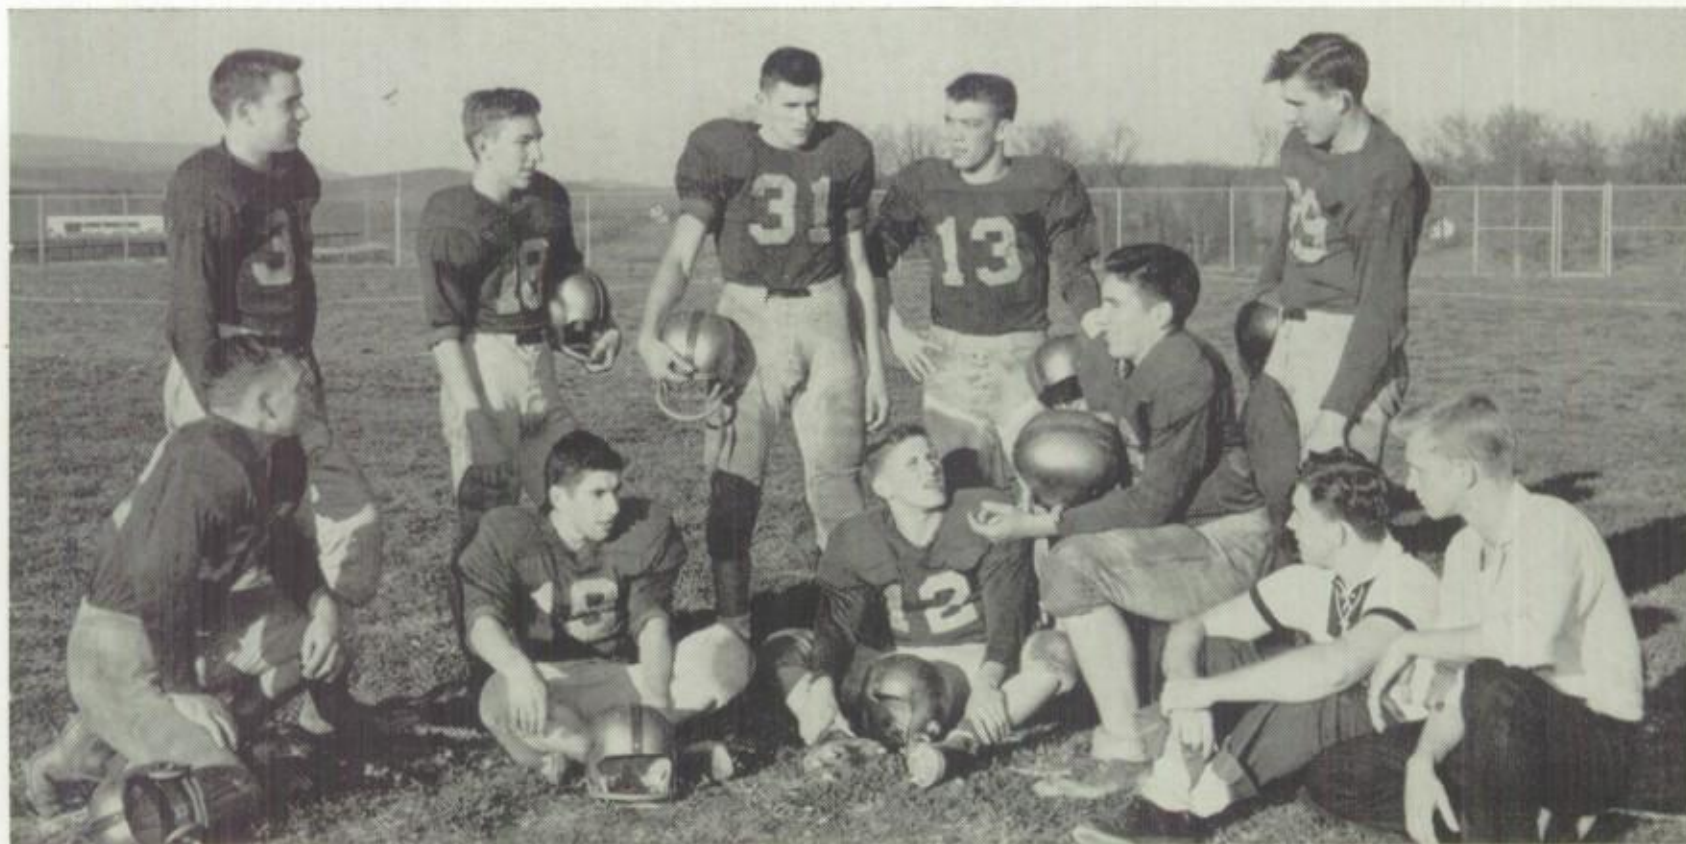

The undescrivable rally lit the fuse of the Lion squad and Southmont was doomed! The team turned into unconquering thundering giants that crushed the Tigers 59-20.

After their first taste of victory, the Lions swarmed into Smith. Our boys were defeated 12-6.

Roaring mad from the last defeat, the team invaded Berlin and came home victorious 26-6.

On November 10, Ridge was all set to again bring back the ball when they played host to Meyersdale. Hampered by the loss of quarterback Bob Heslop, the team was defeated 13-6. Heslop was out due to an injury received at Berlin.

The year 1956-57 saw wrestling initiated at Chestnut Ridge Joint High School. In spite of this, the Roaring Lions have attained a fine showing in the District. At the beginning there were approximately twenty candidates for the sport, but as interest grew, more and more candidates joined the ranks of the "bone-crushers." After a slow start, a loss to Morrison's Cove, the home forces went on the beat Portage. Then a loss to Everett and a win against Bedford's J. V.'s and Morrison Cove gave the Roaring-Lion matmen a 3 and 2 record. A loss to perennially strong Conemaugh Twp. High School and a victory against Somerset gave the "bone-crush-ers" a 4 and 3 record. The Lions lost the last game to Everett but finished with a 4 and 4 record for the year. This gave them a .500 record for their first season in the sport.

One of the boys, Wild Bill Hahn, deserves special mention in that while wrestling for the first time this year he managed to go undefeated for six straight matches until finally beaten by Somerset. This is doubly unusual in that he pinned the first defeat on Conemaugh Twp.'s wrestler this year.

On March 8 and 9 the wrestling squad went to the District 5 P. I. A. A. Tournament which was held in Bedford.

Steve McCreary, the only boy from our school who reached the finals, went on to beat his man and become the first District 5 Wrestling champion to ever represent our school. Steve wrestled in the 145-pound class. He will now represent our school in the regional tournament to be held at Clearfield, March 16.

This was the first year for Varsity Wrestling in C. R. H. S. and a very successful one according to performances.

DRIVER EDUCATION CAR

The driver education course was begun in Chestnut Ridge High School during the school year, 1955-56. It was initiated to help the teen-age students become familiar with the proper operation of their automobiles. To help the teen-agers become acquainted with traffic situations before they go out on the highways, and to try to build the proper attitudes, habits and skills necessary to carry on the safe and continued movement of traffic on our streets and highways.

Since the beginning of the course nearly one-hundred sixty students have taken either the theory or practice driving parts of the course. The theory part consists of learning the driving fundamentals; shifting gears, making turns properly, giving correct signals, and working on projects. The practice driving consists of actual behind-the-wheel driving on the highway.

The car being used was donated by the Thomas Chevrolet Co. of Bedford and the dual controls were donated by the American Automobile Association.
